

11 December 2020

Thank you for giving Muslim Pro the opportunity to respond to the serious allegations made in the articles "How the U.S Military Buys Location Data from Ordinary Apps", (16 November 2020), and "Muslims reel over a prayer app that sold user data: 'A betrayal from within our own community,'"(28 November 2020, Los Angeles Times).

X-Mode Social, the company mentioned in the VICE article as obtaining "location data directly from apps, then sells that data to contractors, and by extension, the military" has since confirmed that it had stopped working with Sierra Nevada Corporation and Systems & Technology Research, the two alleged partners of the US Military, long before Muslim Pro enrolled X-Mode.

For the avoidance of doubt, Muslim Pro has terminated its relationships with all data partners, including X-Mode, and did so when the first VICE article was published.

Our comprehensive response can be found here "Statement from Muslim Pro".

Thank you again for this opportunity to set the record straight. We take our responsibilities to our users extremely seriously and we were as appalled and upset as they were by the suggestion that data may have been shared by a third party.

Kindest regards,