

AGCO Limited Statement made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015

This statement is for the financial year ending 31 December 2018.

ABOUT AGCO

AGCO is a leader in the design, manufacture and distribution of agricultural solutions. AGCO Limited sells agricultural machinery and equipment, which has been designed and manufactured within the AGCO group, to wholesale customers in the UK. Our ultimate parent company is AGCO Corporation which has its head office in the United States of America.

OUR GENERAL POLICIES ON SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING

We remain committed to ensuring that there is no slavery or human trafficking in our supply chain or in any part of our business. We strive to protect and manage our own workforce and also collaborate with our suppliers to ensure that they support the same standards in terms of ensuring a safe, legal and healthy workforce.

Compliance within our own business

The AGCO Group Global Code of Conduct, which has been rolled out by AGCO Limited, is aimed at our internal business and contains a section which is dedicated to fostering a safe and respectful workplace. This Code of Conduct is kept under review by the AGCO Group to ensure its content meets the needs of both the business and legislative requirements.

Compliance within our supply chain

Our Supplier Code of Conduct, which mirrors the content of the Global Code of Conduct, establishes a foundation for the relationships that we create with our suppliers. The Supplier Code of Conduct also contains a section which includes prohibitions on child labour, forced labour, dignity in the workplace, compliance with laws on working hours and compliance with laws regarding minimum wages. We require strict adherence to the Supplier Code of Conduct by any company within our supply chain and any entity which seeks to do business with us. We expect all such organisations to adopt and take aggressive measures to achieve the same level of conduct committed to by AGCO.

SUPPLIER ADHERENCE TO OUR ETHICS

To ensure all those in our supply chain and contractors comply with our ethics we require all potential suppliers to confirm compliance with our Supplier Code of Conduct.

TRAINING

We provide mandatory training to our workforce on the Global Code of Conduct to ensure adherence to all its principles. Completion of the training is a condition of engagement or employment at AGCO.

Mandatory Supplier Code of Conduct training is also provided to our workforce (as part of the Global Code of Conduct training) so that they are vigilant when visiting suppliers as well as understanding the best approach to address concerns. Tailored mandatory training was also provided to our global purchasing employees in 2013 and we are in the process of rolling this training out again, with the aim of having the training ready to launch within Q1 2019.

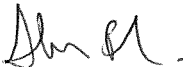

REPORTING LINE

In the event that a supplier, sub-supplier, prospective supplier or any other person suspects any violation of our Global Code of Conduct or the Supplier Code of Conduct, they can report the suspected violation on an anonymous basis. Individuals working at AGCO can report their suspicions via the telephone, post or online via AGCO’s Alertline (an Alertline telephone number, postal address and webpage address is provided in the Global Code of Conduct).

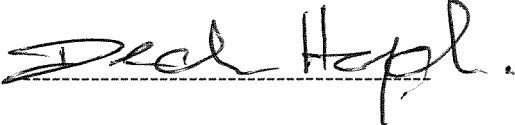

STEPS WE HAVE TAKEN IN FINANCIAL YEAR ENDING 31 DECEMBER 2018 TO COMBAT SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Last year we sent out a questionnaire to selected suppliers. This questionnaire was designed to understand the level of those suppliers’ awareness of slavery and human trafficking, to find out whether any instances of slavery or human trafficking had occurred within their own organisation or supply chain and what processes they had in place to combat slavery and human trafficking within their own organisation and their own supply chain. We sent this questionnaire to suppliers we had identified as operating in the top 20 countries where there is a high risk of slavery or human trafficking occurring. We have been chasing suppliers for their responses this year, and have now received completed questionnaires back from over half of respondents. We will continue to chase outstanding responses in 2019.

In terms of the responses we have to date received back, we have analysed these and we believe that the suppliers in question do not properly understand the concept of modern slavery. In an attempt to address this we have created a one page document with a short summary of modern slavery and what it means, to increase knowledge of our suppliers. This is now being provided to all new direct material suppliers as part of AGCO’s new supplier onboarding process. This summary document has also been added to the main AGCO pages in 6 different languages and can be found under our supplier information tab.
