

MODERN SLAVERY & HUMAN TRAFFICKING: Board Statement

Paragon Group is publishing this statement under the provisions of the UK Modern Slavery Act 2015 (the 'Act') which requires businesses to state the actions taken throughout the financial year to ensure the risk of Modern Slavery is mitigated in our own business and throughout our supply chains.

The Paragon Group of companies supports the objectives of the Act in eliminating slavery, servitude, forced labour and human trafficking and we are committed to ensuring our practices and procedures, and those of our suppliers are in line with this.

We do not tolerate exploitation.

Paragon Group supports the Act in raising the awareness of Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking. Paragon Group presents its Slavery and Human trafficking statement for the financial year ended 30th of June 2017.

Our policy on Anti- Slavery and Human-Trafficking applies to all persons working for, or on behalf of Paragon Group, in any capacity. This includes but does not limit the policy applicability to; employees, agency workers, temporary staff, agents, contractors, external consultants, third-party representatives, and business partners.

Our comprehensive and expanding programmes have led to the development of an effective system to:

- Identify, assess and mitigate any potential risks within our own operation
- Identify, assess and mitigate any potential risks within our supply chain
- Undertake further due diligence on high risk supply partners
- Protect whistle-blowers

As our business has and continues to grow significantly through acquisition, we are working towards harmonising our processes and ensuring best practices across the business.

We are a privately-owned company that is agile, innovative and dynamic. We help to transform our clients' businesses by providing them with technology-driven solutions that drive real change and deliver competitive advantage.

Policies

Paragon Group has a zero-tolerance approach to Modern Slavery. We are committed to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business dealings and relationships.

We have enforced effective systems and controls to minimise the risk of Modern Slavery in our own business and supply chains.

Our policies and practices include:

- Paragon Code of Conduct
- Supplier Code of Conduct
- Recruitment and Selection Policy
- Whistle Blowing Policy

Due diligence process in our business

All companies within the Group have been audited to assess their employment arrangements and Human Resources policies. It has been determined that the risk of any of these offences occurring in this area is low.

Paragon Group utilises temporary employees in addition to our permanent employees to support our business needs. All employees, whether temporary or permanent are paid in accordance with the same guidelines.

Paragon Group also adheres to the standards of the National Living Wage legislation and Minimum Wage legislation in the UK and relevant local regulation in each market within which we operate. This is reviewed on an annual basis.

We have recruitment processes in place to ensure that where we appoint a third party to assist with recruitment, they do not charge recruitment fees to the individual being considered for employment.

In the UK we undertake verification of all individuals, as required by UK legislation, prior to appointment. This includes DBS and other enhanced security checks depending on client requirements.

During the year to 30th June 2017 there were no reported incidents of slavery, servitude, forced or compulsory labour or human trafficking relating to Paragon Group's employment arrangements recorded through the whistleblowing process, and no issues came to the Group's attention through its other management and HR processes.

Training

All employees in the UK are required to read, sign, and comply with our HR and Ethics & Compliance policies, which include the Modern Slavery policy.

To drive a high level of understanding of the risks of Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking in our business, supply chain and the wider community we will increase the scope of training provided to our staff during this financial year through our LMS system in the UK.

Due diligence process in our supply chains

Paragon Group's diverse range of activities has resulted in a supply chain that ranges from large corporate enterprises to small businesses.

Paragon Group expects its contractors, suppliers, and other business partners to uphold high standards in all business practices and to share our zero-tolerance approach to slavery and human trafficking. We expect all suppliers to comply with all relevant laws of the country in which they operate.

As part of the contracting processes, all UK suppliers are required to sign the Paragon Supplier Code of Conduct which includes prohibitions against the use of staff sourced from forced, compulsory or trafficked labour, and anyone held in slavery or servitude.

During this financial year, we developed a methodology to assess the potential risk of modern slavery across our supply chain. Supply partners operating in countries and industries with a high prevalence and / or risk of modern slavery undergo further due diligence to ensure their employment practices are in line with the International Labour Organisations recommendations.

Our supplier due diligence will be completed annually by a compliance team consisting of audit and compliance, human resources, procurement, and sales.

This statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes Paragon Groups slavery and human trafficking statement for the financial year ended 30th June 2017.
