Policies in relation to slavery and human trafficking

YHN has a zero tolerance approach to any form of modern slavery and trafficking. This is supported by our Modern Slavery Policy that was developed and implemented during 2016/17. As well as setting out our approach the Policy details how it will be communicated and how we will ensure compliance, as well as deal with any breaches.

In addition we have a comprehensive Corporate Procurement Strategy, supported by a number of policies including Anti Bribery, Fraud and Corruption, Whistle blowing and Corporate Equality, as part of our public sector equality duty which includes the elimination of unlawful discrimination.

YHN are also committed to continually assess the recruitment procedures and practices in order to comply with current employment legislation, and recruit staff according to best practice. During 2016/17 we updated our Employee Code of Conduct and Whistleblowing Policies to include reference to Modern Slavery. Equality impact assessments are also carried out on all HR related policies to ensure they promote equality of opportunity.

Finally as an organisation we have been assessed as excellent under the Social Housing Equality Framework and are a Stonewall top 100 employer 2017 (ranked 28th), demonstrating our commitment to equality.

Due diligence processes in relation to slavery and human trafficking in our business and supply chains

As a group we are governed by the Public Contract Regulations 2015, which are underpinned by our Financial Regulations, incorporating a comprehensive supplier accreditation process. This includes, as appropriate, a supplier suitability or pre-qualification questionnaire containing checks relating to a suppliers economic and financial standing, as well as compliance with labour law. We have also updated our procurement documentation and introduced a Supplier Code of Conduct which sets out the standards, including those relating to Modern Slavery, expected from our suppliers when doing business with us.

In addition our standard contract terms require our suppliers to adhere to all of our policies and rules, together with compliance at all times with the Law, including specifically the Modern Slavery Act, in the performance of the contract.

Parts of our business where there is a risk of slavery and human trafficking taking place, and the steps we have taken to assess and manage that risk.

We have analysed our third party spend and categorised the supply areas we think are most at risk of modern slavery. The areas we think that are most at risk are due to their relatively high level of spend and the lack of supply chain visibility below our tier one suppliers:-

- Supplies of white goods, small electrical and furniture items for NFS.
- Supplies of raw materials to manufacture beds for Palatine.

During 2016/17 we undertook the mapping of our NFS supply chain, securing the signed commitment to tackle Modern Slavery and action plan from our first tier supplier. They in turn secured the same commitment from the majority of our second tier suppliers. Going forward we will continue to pursue any outstanding commitments and plan to undertake a similar exercise for the raw material suppliers to Palatine Beds.

Effectiveness in ensuring that slavery and human trafficking is not taking place in our business or supply chains

We are confident that slavery and human trafficking is not taking place amongst our first tier suppliers due to the due diligence processes that we currently have in place. Whilst we cannot be as certain that slavery and human trafficking is not taking place further down our supply chains, since the introduction of our new policy and revised procedures, together with the work we have undertaken in conjunction with our NFS supply chain, we have had no reported instances of Modern Slavery.

Training about slavery and human trafficking available to staff

During 2016/17 Modern Slavery training has been incorporated into our Safeguarding Adults and Children Level 1 training, which is mandatory for all staff who may have to make a safeguarding alert. In addition supplier guidance in relation to Modern Slavery has also been developed and made available on our website.

This Statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and has been approved and published by the YHN Board and will be reviewed annually.
