In response, Armani sent the following statement:

13 December 2017

Dear Saskia,

We received your mail and your enquiry on some Eastern Europe productions, in which some serious human rights abuses were reported.

Following your enquiry, the Armani Group, which has been and is actively working on all CSR aspects of its production and supply chain, has increased its attention and its efforts in the area, where an additional audit program is being implemented.

It’s our priority to identify and solve any possible critical issue that could emerge.

Best regards
