

Response from Chevron

26 October 2021

Business & Human Rights Resource Centre invited Chevron to respond to allegations that it knew about the dangers posed by its fossil fuel products for decades and engaged in a widespread campaign of deception and greenwashing to protect its profits, which the executives of Chevron have been asked to testify about on October 28th at a Committee hearing in the U.S. House of Representatives.

- "Slippery Six: Big Oil's 'Slippery Six' Must Testify Before Congress on Oct. 28." Pay Up Climate Polluters, September 2021, <https://payupclimatepolluters.org/slippy-six>
- "Big tobacco got caught in a lie by Congress. Now it's the oil industry's turn." Mark Hertsgaard, The Guardian, 14 Oct 2021. <https://www.theguardian.com/environment/2021/oct/14/congress-hearing-oil-exxon-bp-shell-chevron>

Chevron sent the following response:

Chevron is participating in the hearing and is cooperating with the committee. Chevron fundamentally disagrees with the accusations made in the articles referenced below. Chevron accepts the scientific consensus on climate change. Chevron supports the Paris Agreement and is committed to helping to address climate change while continuing to deliver energy that supports society. Our most recent climate change resilience report can be found at the following link: <https://www.chevron.com/-/media/chevron/sustainability/documents/2021-climate-change-resilience-report.pdf>.