

“BESTSELLER’s response”, 6 December 2022

Thank you for the continuous engagement around working conditions in the garment industry, in Myanmar and in other regions globally. And providing us with space to comment and contribute.

Regarding overall management of labour rights in Myanmar, BESTSELLER has – as you know – significantly increased our capacity (manpower and resources) at our local office in Yangon in order to operate under heightened due-diligence in the country. We take any concrete allegations regarding our supply chain very seriously and will continue to engage with all national and international stakeholders focused on improving working conditions to get a better understanding of the situation when such allegations are raised.

Regarding Great One Myanmar Co. Ltd, please note that we exited this factory some time back, and no longer have any commercial links with them.
