

“Levi’s response”, 1 March 2024

At Levi Strauss & Co., we have a longstanding commitment to supporting safe, productive workplaces for workers and we take any allegations of efforts to curtail freedom of association extremely seriously. Over the past several months, we have been in frequent contact with the Ozak management to ensure they uphold all legal obligations under Turkish labor law and to firmly express our support for the lawful expression of workers’ voices and workers’ right to freedom of association. We remain in contact with Ozak in an ongoing effort to determine what the future of our working relationships will be.
